THEATRE FIRE AT BROCKTON TRAPS FIREMEN

Twelve Firemen Killed In Fire At Brockton, Mass.

Eight Others Seriously Injured In Battle Against Theatre Blaze

ROOF COLLAPSES; TRAPS FIREMEN

Firemen Were In Balcony Throwing Water On Fire When Caught

BROCKTON, Mass., March 10.—Twelve firemen perished today and eight other firefighters were injured seriously when the roof of the Strand Theatre in the fire-swept Washburn building suddenly collapsed.

Twenty-five of the firemen were playing streams of water from the theatre gallery into the heart of the fire when the snow-laden roof above their heads sagged inward, then collapsed with a roar amid a shower of sparks.

Five of the trapped men escaped unscathed. The eight injured men were dragged out by comrades, police and civilians who rushed to the balcony and fought through flaming debris to reach the trapped men.

Starts In Basement

The fire broke out in the basement of the theatre early this morning two hours after the last patron had left at conclusion of last night's performance. The flames mushroomed through the first floor and orchestra pit with such rapidity that the balcony where the entrapment later occurred was reached in a matter of minutes.

British Sink Italian Raider In Indian Ocean

LONDON, March 10.—The 7,270-ton British cruiser Leander sank the Italian commerce raider Ramb I and captured 100 members of the crew in a brief battle in the Indian ocean, the British admiralty said today.

Owned by the Italian government, the speedy raider packed four 4.7-inch guns on her fore-castle and poop-deck.

Ordered to stop by the British cruiser, the Ramb I, according to the official communique, ran up the Italian flag and began firing. The Leander replied with her greatly superior armament and after firing five salvos, the crew of the Ramb I deserted their vessel which caught fire and sank within 50 minutes.

London Heavily Bombed By Nazi Air Raiders

LONDON, March 10.—German raiders returned to Britain today after giving London another heavy pounding during the night.

A new air raid alarm, 509th of the war, sounded in London at 9.30 a. m. and ended about an hour later. While it was in progress a German raider machine-gunned an East Anglian coastal town and dropped bombs into the sea. British fighting planes chased the attacker away.

Second Heavy Night Raid

While the German planes staged their second successive heavy night raid on London, British bombers remained grounded, it was revealed.

The British air ministry communique said last night's attacks were concentrated mainly against London and the nearby home counties but that attacks also were made along England's south coast.

"Damage was done at a number of places," it added.

Earle To Handle British Affairs

British Minister Reported As Leaving Sofia During Day

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, March 10.—British minister George Rendell left Sofia at 11 a. m. today, the British reported in a broadcast picked up by NBC in New York.

Sofia, March 10.—British minister George Rendell was scheduled to leave Sofia today, five days after informing the Bulgarian government that Britain had severed relations with Bulgaria.

George H. Earle, American minister to Sofia who has ordered the United States legation staff to take charge of British interests, was expected to accompany Rendell to the Turkish border.

As the time drew near for Rendell's departure, some diplomatic quarters believed the long-expected British Royal Air Force attacks against the Germans in Bulgaria and Romania may be launched within a day or so.

S.W.O.C. To Seek Showdown On Steel Pay Raise

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—The Steel Workers Organizing Committee prepared today for a "showdown" on its demands for a pay raise totalling $50,000,000 a year from "Big Steel."

C. L. O. President Philip Murray said he would send registered letters to the subsidiaries of United States Steel Corporation early this week requesting formal negotiations on a new wage-and-hour agreement, and other contract adjustments.

Thus, both sides will be forced to meet at a conference table within 10 days after notification to reconcile their differences. If they fail to effect a compromise within the next 10 days, their old agreement, signed March 2, 1937, will expire automatically.

That raised the possibility the steel contract might run out about the same time the United Mine Workers reach the "zero hour" in their negotiations for a new biennial agreement. The miners refuse to work without a contract, and if the steel workers adopt the same policy, the national defense program would be jeopardized by twin walkouts in two of the nation's basic industries.

INVITATION IS RECEIVED TODAY

(BULLETIN)

NEW WILMINGTON, March 10.—Westminster College, 1941 Pennsylvania collegiate basketball champion, today accepted an invitation to participate in the Metropolitan Interscholastic Invitational Tournament to be held in Madison Square Garden, March 18, 19 and 22, 24.

The formal invitation was received late this morning by Grover C. Washburn, head coach.

The towering Titans, winners of 20 out of 21 games this season, will face the top ranking teams in the nation for the biggest prize in basketball.

Will Sink U. S. Ships Carrying Aid To Britain

Such Is Reiterated Warning By Nazi Military Authorities Today

CLAIM U. S. BECOMES REAL BELLIGERENT

Blockade On England To Be Pressed Against All Ships, Is Warning

BERLIN, March 10.—Any American ships carrying aid to Britain under terms of the lease-lend bill will be sunk the moment they pass Germany's "iron ring" of blockade around the British Isles, Nazi military authorities reiterated today.

While the press lashed out at President Roosevelt as an "absolute dictator" waging an undeclared war on Europe on behalf of Britain, officials emphasized that Adolf Hitler gave his answer to the bill on January 30, long before it was passed.

It was on that date the Fuehrer announced that any ships carrying aid to Britain which came within the range of German U-boat torpedoes would be sunk, regardless of nationality.

Warning To America

"This was a clear warning to America," a spokesman said, "that if the president sends naval or merchant ships into the blockade zone they will be sunk on sight, the same as any other vessels crossing the deadline."

"The Fuehrer's words need no amplification or even reiteration. In coming weeks U-boats, the Luftwaffe, motor torpedo boats and long-range guns will draw an iron ring around Britain."

TURKISH PAPER ISSUES CALL FOR NEW ALLIANCE

Urges Cooperation Of Greece, Yugoslavia And Turkey In Latest Crisis

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 10.—The influential Istanbul newspaper Ikdam today issued an eleventh-hour call for conclusion of an alliance among Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia.

The appeal was issued as the ranks of German troops poised on the southern Bulgarian border for an anticipated invasion of Greece, and with Yugoslavia on the verge of signing a non-aggression act with the Reich.

Under the alliance it proposed, Ikdam said, war would be "automatic" in the event of German aggression against either Greece, Turkey or Yugoslavia.

It stressed that no time could be lost if such an alliance is desired.

ITALIANS RETREAT; MANY CAPTURED

Reports Persist That Mussolini Made Visit To Troops In Tank

ATHENS, March 10.—Italy's harried forces in central Albania today headed for their worst debacle since the Greco-Italian war started almost five months ago.

Reports from the battlefield told of continued Greek advances throughout the entire central sector, with the Italians in full retreat and thousands killed or taken prisoner.

Order Special Mourning

Among those reported killed was Giuseppe Bottai, Fascist minister of education and one of Premier Mussolini's closest advisers. Italian troops along the entire front were ordered to observe special mourning for the death on the battlefield of the death on the battlefield of the death on the battlefield.

Firemen Save Moravia Church

Edifice On Wampum Road Is Again Threatened By Blaze Sunday Night

BUCKET BRIGADE DOES YOEMAN WORK

For the second time this winter, fire threatened destruction of the Moravia Presbyterian church, but was again thwarted by neighbors of the community and firemen from New Castle and Shenango township, when flames were seen creeping up the wall of the church at the back of the auditorium, by Clare Kennedy, custodian of the church, who resides next door, about 11 o'clock Sunday night. Several hundred dollars damage resulted.

Mr. Kennedy summoned neighbors, while more help was called by telephone, and the Seventh ward and Shenango township firemen were soon speeding to the scene. The hastily formed bucket brigade fought valiantly to keep the fire in check until professional help arrived. At the scene later directing the fight was Fire Chief James E. Thomas and Assistant Chief George W. Harper.

The church had been occupied on Saturday for the first time since the fire about six weeks ago, when Pomona Grange met there, and services were held in the church Sunday afternoon.

The blaze originated near the same spot as the previous fire, and is believed to have been caused by a defective spot in the chimney. The fire in the furnace was about out when the blaze was discovered, so the fire must have smoldered in the joists against the chimney since afternoon.

When firemen arrived, the blaze had worked its way to the ceiling and in a few more seconds, would have been under the roof, where it would have been beyond control.

The loss is said to be covered by insurance.

Labor Strikes Biggest Defense Work Headache

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR., International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 10.—One of the biggest headaches in the defense program—labor strikes—today split the office of production management over a policy to alleviate the situation. Two main controversies in the O. P. M. are:

1. Should strike settlement proposals of defense officials be made public before formal ratification by the contending parties?
2. Should there be some kind of federal legislation regulating strikes in defense industries?

The factions on these questions were defined roughly as those who say "social gains must not be sacrificed" and those who declare "speed of production in the crisis is everything."

Both agree, and are backed by President Roosevelt, that there should be some sort of federal mediation board set up to handle defense strikes. Undercover controversy, however, rages over how this board should operate.

The "production is everything" board should operate.

Measure Now Before House For Action On Senate Amendments

SEE FINAL EFFORT TO BAN NEW A. E. F.

Washington Expects President Will Get Bill For Action By Wednesday

WASHINGTON, March 10.—A final attempt to write into the lease-lend bill a definite ban on a second A. E. F. to Europe was planned today by house foes of the measure, as President Roosevelt called congressional leaders into conference on the British aid situation.

The proposed new battle, however, was not expected to delay final enactment of the historic bill, designed to carry out the president's foreign policy. Republican house leaders announced that they would cooperate in expediting final action on senate amendments.

May Sign Wednesday

The time-table of Democratic leaders called for house acceptance of senate amendments tomorrow, with Mr. Roosevelt probably signing the bill Wednesday morning. Senate passage of the bill by a vote of 60 to 31 virtually settled the long fight.

Mr. Roosevelt himself, it appeared, would decide whether there is any further delay. He and advisers were combing the senate amendments to determine whether there are "bugs" which must come out through medium of joint senate-house conference committee.

Summoned to the White House was the "big four" of congress—Vice President Wallace, Senate Majority Leader Barkley, House Speaker Rayburn and House Majority Leader McCormack.

Expect Request For Huge Sum

A presidential request for a huge sum of money to finance British aid is expected to be submitted to the house late this week, leaders said. There were reports that the president will ask for $50,000,000 cash at the outset.

Rep. Fish (N. Y.), ranking Republican on the house foreign affairs committee, announced that he would seek a roll-call vote on an amendment banning dispatch of men in no war zones if he can cut through "red tape" of house procedure.

Winter still is with us some, but he takes a little smile, quite a joyful old chap, filled with tricks and tinged with glee. But as days get on towards spring, he relents a little more, here's today, a warming sun, weather's up to forty four. Maybe winter tires last when the March 15 comes around, but each storm is weaker much, as the sun comes back I've found. Maybe winter wants to play, maybe he's a playful thing, but he can leave any time, me I'm waiting for the spring.

PA NEW OBSERVES

This is the final week for making income tax returns. March 15 is the deadline.

According to records here, the snowfall on Friday and Saturday nights totalled about nine inches, the heaviest snow of the entire winter.

State highway and city forces were kept busy Saturday night and Sunday in their battle to keep the highways open for traffic following the heavy snow of Saturday and Sunday night. Snow plows operated in both the city and county and the situation was well taken care of, considering the unusually heavy fall of snow.

According to announcement from Washington, President Roosevelt has issued a proclamation calling for the observance of April 7 as Army Day in the United States. Governors of the 48 states are asked to issue similar proclamations.

Owen Fox, city forster, reports that the three groundhogs in the animal house at Gaston park have shaken off the robes of slumber and come forth to make up for the meals they missed during their hibernation. He says that the animals are looking "tough", and their fur appears dead grey, having lost all its brilliancy. With good feeding and care, the "coats" of these groundhogs will soon take on again their natural good color. These animals have brought out from their den most of their straw bedding, and from all appearances they are out to stay.

Greece Hails U. S. Lease-Lend Bill

Expects To Get Some Benefit

Greek Troops Report New Successes In Central Albania

EARLY AID FROM U. S. ANTICIPATED

By A. E. ANGELOPOULOS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATHENS, March 10.—Greece today hailed senate passage of the United States lend-lease bill as a forerunner of "effective material help."

While Hellenic legions scored new victories in a three-day offensive in Central Albania, the government-operated Athens radio said that Greece received "with great elation" news of the senate passage of the aid-bill.

Expects Benefits
Greece, the announcer said, expects to share with Britain in benefits derived from the bill. "Greece," he said, "looks with confidence to the administrative speed for which American industrial executives are justly famed, and is sure that effective material help to Greece in her struggle will be immediately forthcoming."

Facing the danger of a German invasion, Greece claimed smashing new victories over Italian forces in Albania. While Hellenic forces lined up along the Struma river to meet the threat from the north, an official Athens communique announced:

Offensive Actions
"Offensive actions were carried out against newly-occupied positions."

In order to create a diversion against Greek offensive action, the enemy made strong counter-attacks, all of which were repulsed with heavy losses. About 150 prisoners were taken and many automatic arms and much material found abandoned.

"Our air force aided in these successful operations."

Reports from the battlefield said the crack Greek ninth Alpine regiment of the Julia division was "almost completely annihilated."

GREEK FORCES PREPARING FOR NAZI INVASION

assured Greece of aid was seen in this semi-official Greek statement: "Greece is indifferent to any threat. Greece will defend her integrity and independence by the side of her powerful allies and friends to the bitter end."

As soon as the German push into Greece begins, Balkan quarters expected, British bombers will unleash heavily attacks on German columns, bases and communications lines in Bulgaria and against the German-controlled Polet oil fields in Rumania.

There were rumors that Turkey has agreed to open the newly-mined Dardanelles to British warships, which would pass from the Mediterranean to the Black Sea to shell the Bulgarian and Rumanian coasts.

See British Action
Further signs of drastic British action were seen in official advice by the British legations in Belgrade and Budapest to all British residents to leave Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Yugoslavian Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Aleksandar Cincar-Marcovic were scheduled to depart from Belgrade Tuesday for Berlin, where they probably will sign a pact of non-aggression and friendship with Germany.

Seeking to quiet fears that German troops might over-run Yugoslavia as they have Rumania and Bulgaria, Deputy Premier Vladimir Matichuk "Yugoslavia's situation is not identical with that of Bulgaria. Yugoslavia's strategic importance for Germany is much less."

Turkey still delayed any definite expression regarding her intentions if the Germans invade Greece. But Turkish defense measures went forward at high speed while the Turkish interior and public works ministers inspected defense at Istanbul, the country's principal port.

of points in these areas," the communique states, "but nowhere was it very extensive."

"Bombs also were dropped on a few points elsewhere in England and in northeast Scotland, but little damage was done and casualties were not numerous."

Fly At High Altitude

Flying at high altitudes, raiders attacked a south coast town during the night, dropping high explosives that demolished offices, stores and a brewery.

As they did on Saturday night, the raiders attacked London in waves for many hours. They dropped flames, incendiaries and high explosives that caused three air raid alarms in quick succession.

Bombs fell on widely separated parts of the city and anti-aircraft guns kept up a thunderous barrage far into the night.

"Sections of South Wales and the midlands also were attacked and raiders appeared for a time over Liverpool."

LEASE LEND BILL MAY BE SIGNED ON WEDNESDAY

amendment, approved by the senate, is meaningless. It declares that presidential powers over the armed forces are not enlarged under the bill except as specified.

"The amendment is almost an insult to congress," Fish said. "I will try to offer an amendment with teeth in it, to assure that our boys shall not follow war goods to Europe, and also to prevent convoys. Due to a confused situation, this issue was not met by any sort of a record vote in the house."

Not To Delay Action

"We will not, however, delay final passage of the bill. Republicans will cooperate with Democratic leadership expediting it."

Sen. Ellender (D-La., whose compromise A. E. F. ban was adopted before the senate completed its long fight on the bill, defended the amendment, declaring it means certain that the president cannot send troops abroad under existing law.

The bill, which was introduced on January 10, and passed by the house before it went to the senate, came back to the lower chamber just two months after introduction.

The administration was reported to be dissatisfied with the senate-approved Byrd amendment, which denies use of future American defense appropriations for British aid purposes. High officials, however, indicated that final passage would not be delayed for a move to strike the amendment from the bill.

Bill Being Looked Over

"The bill is being looked over," said Rep. Bloom (D-N.Y., chairman of the house foreign affairs committee. "I think senate amendments will be deemed acceptable to the house."

After failing to defeat the bill on the charge that it will lead to war, congressional opponents planned to carry on their fight to keep America from entering a foreign conflict.

"A group of us will make speeches from coast to coast, seeking to convince the people and the administration that our entrance into the war is not inevitable," said Sen. Wheeler (D-Mont.).

"Repeal of the armed embargo and passage of the lease-lend bill are mere preliminary bouts," said Fish. "The big question now is whether we shall be involved in war."

See Propaganda

"The first propaganda to this end will be that we convey war goods to Britain. Now that the British aid bill is passed, we can divorce the question of aid and American defense and bring out clearly the one big question of whether we go to war."

Administration officials were working at top speed, with Harry L. Hopkins taking a prominent role, to round out a program of British aid. The British have requested credits so that orders for 2,000 airplanes may be placed immediately.

Transfer of over-aged destroyers or light cruisers and additional merchant ships may be the first actual steps providing aid to the embattled country.

Mrs. Rhoda Davis Robinson

Mrs. Rhoda Davis Robinson, aged 78, died suddenly this morning at 12:15 o'clock at her home, 704 Sampson street. Mrs. Robinson was the widow of Andrew G. Robinson, a member of the New Castle police force, who preceded her in death in 1907.

Born in Wales on June 14, 1862, daughter of David and Caroline Carpenter Davis, Mrs. Robinson spent almost all her life in this city. She had resided at the Sampson street address for 62 years and was a member of Trinity church. Mrs. Robinson was the last sur-

Deaths of the Day

William H. Reck
New Castle lost one of its most venerable gentlemen at 1:15 Sunday morning when William H. Reck, 90, of 210 South Walnut street, died following an illness which was aggravated by a fall some days ago.

Mr. Reck was known by thousands in this city and county. Since 1902 he had been a resident of New Castle and over the years had endeared himself to the community. His was an unusual disposition. Three times tragedy struck his home and each time removed a son, but he carried on cheerfully, bowing to the will of the God he served so long and so well.

He was a Christian gentleman who carried his Christianity into his every day living. Despite his years he remained active in his church connections until a short time ago when illness struck.

He was born in Alliance, O., May 3, 1850. As a boy he met President Abraham Lincoln in Alliance and shook hands with him. As a young man he entered the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and for 29 years was the yardmaster in the Alliance, O., yards.

In 1902 he came to New Castle and engaged in the carpentry contracting business. Up until a few years ago he was active in his trade. In 1870 he was married to Miss Anna Josephine Ewing and on December 22, 1940, celebrated his seventieth year of married life, with Mr. Reck.

He was a member of the Epworth Methodist church and was active in the Men's Bible class of that church. Another piece of Christian work he was vitally interested in was the City Rescue Mission and for many years served as a director of the organization.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Frank G. Dunlap, a grandson, Harley E. Shoaff, and two great grandchildren, Harley E. Shoaff, Jr., and Mary Lou Shoaff. Three sons, Glenn, Harry and Charles preceded him in death some years ago. Funeral services will be held from the Leyde Mortuary and interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

The body is at the Leyde Mortuary and friends may visit tonight between 7 and 9 o'clock. Due to illness Mrs. Reck cannot be present.

Thomas A. Kimes
A former superintendent of New Castle schools, Thomas A. Kimes, aged 78, passed away at his home, 3919 Hampton street, Pittsburgh, on Saturday, March 8.

Funeral services will be held from the home this evening at 8 o'clock. Interment will be made Tuesday morning in Morefield cemetery, Sharon-New Castle road.

Lewis Thomas Miles
A former resident of New Castle, Lewis Thomas Miles, aged 40, of Wheatland, Pa., passed away Saturday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Olive Sweeney, in Wheatland, after an illness of 18 months.

Mr. Miles, born in New Castle on September 18, 1900, son of the late Thomas H. and Alice Sager Miles, had lived in Wheatland for 35 years where he was well known as a baseball player, having pitched for Wheatland teams from 1918 to 1929 when he retired. He had formerly been a tin mill worker.

He leaves a daughter, Betty Lou Miles; six sisters, Mrs. Sweeney and Mrs. LeRoy Marsteller of Wheatland, Mrs. Leslie Hunter of Sharon, Mrs. Vance Williams of Geneva, Pa., Mrs. Marvin Manbeck of Greentfield, Mrs. Henry Gosh of Dunkirk, N. Y.; a brother, William Miles, of Farrell; three step-brothers, Homer, John and Russell Miles; a step-sister, Mrs. Dorothy Parks, and his step-mother, Mrs. Olive Miles, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sweeney home.

Fred Robinson
After a long illness, Fred Robinson, aged 65, of 408 West Lincoln avenue, passed away Saturday at 6:45 p. m. in the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Mr. Robinson was born in Mercer and came to New Castle at an early age. He had been a successful farmer for many years.

Survivors are one sister, Mrs. Jennie Masterston of Jamestown, N. Y.; one niece, Mrs. Iola Webb of Los Angeles, Calif.; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Elita Mason of Chicago, Mrs. Bessie Lodge of Cleveland; two brothers-in-law, John Harris of New Castle and Frank Harris of New York. His wife preceded him in death about a year and a half ago.

The body has been removed to the Crunkleton funeral home, West Falls street, where funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. N. L. Meeks in charge. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery.

Mary Boczar
Mary Boczar, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Boczar, 246 Smithfield street, died shortly after birth Sunday morning at about 9 o'clock.

She leaves her parents, two brothers, Benjamin and John; one sister, Patricia, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cwynar and Mrs. Antoinette Boczar.

This morning at 10:30 o'clock Rev. Fr. Edward Szolow conducted blessing services in Madonna church. Interment was in Madonna cemetery.

Mrs. Rhoda Davis Robinson
Mrs. Rhoda Davis Robinson, aged 78, died suddenly this morning at 12:15 o'clock at her home, 704 Sampson street. Mrs. Robinson was the widow of Andrew G. Robinson, a member of the New Castle police force, who preceded her in death in 1907.

Born in Wales on June 14, 1862, daughter of David and Caroline Carpenter Davis, Mrs. Robinson spent almost all her life in this city. She had resided at the Sampson street address for 62 years and was a member of Trinity church. Mrs. Robinson was the last surviving member of her family, a sister, Mrs. Belle Flynn, having died June 12, 1940.

Surviving are the following children, Harry E. of this city, Louis of Dayton, O., Mrs. H. W. Sontum, this city; eight grand-children; nine great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

The body has been removed to the Jos. S. Rice company chapel, East North street, and will be taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Sontum, West State street, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. around England give real meaning to the German navy's slogan that every ship to or from England is sailing "auf todesfahrt"—to its death."

All responsible circles in Berlin agreed that no ships will be exempted from the Atlantic "death penalty."

Definite Belligerent
German quarters took the view that the United States, which before the war exerted a powerful influence in Europe and which all nations, including Germany, courted, has now become a definite belligerent.

America is waging undeclared war upon the Axis, it was said, and is conducting herself as an outright ally of England.

The blockade zone, it was pointed out, is not being expanded and still embraces the waters around the British Isles. Therefore, it was said, it will be on his own responsibility if President Roosevelt sends American ships into the zone.

"The mind of the German people has been clarified on that point," the spokesman said.

REPORT ITALIAN FORCES HEADING FOR NEW DEBACLE

"One of Fascism's great personalities," which appeared to confirm the Botal report.

Greek and Italian officers fought for the dead chieftain's body. It was reported. The Italians finally withdrew, and in the man's pocket was found a personal message from Il Duce urging him to check the Greek advance lest Fascism die dishonorably.

"Do whatever you can," the letter read. "Replace everybody if you must."

But do not let the Greeks advance another step. Fascist Italy bases her last hopes on your resistance. Do save her!

group is said to favor using the weight of public opinion to help bring quick settlement of labor disputes, and they contend this can best be done by instantly making public all peace proposals.

Those favoring this plan point to the fact that a strike threat against the Bethlehem Steel company was settled in one day after proposed O. P. FAITH

WONDER WHY?

There are a great many things done by the Powers that be, that we do not understand. The amount allowed for the burial of Old Age Pensioners in Pennsylvania is one of them.

COLORADO: Pays up to $100 on funeral bill, where it does not exceed $150.

IOWA: Pays $100 toward funeral bill that does not exceed $200. Friends or relatives may pay the $100.

MICHIGAN: Pays $100 if total bill, including insurance or money donated by friends does not exceed $200. Or, if they use a burial vault they may have a bill of $250 and the state will still pay $100.

PENNSYLVANIA: Where taxes are just about double what they are in Ohio allows $75.00 for a funeral, and up to $25.00 for cemetery expenses if used, but positively does not allow friends or relatives to add one penny or use insurance that decedent might have, in order to give the party a respectable burial.

When the State of Pennsylvania pays a laborer or Union man, they pay him prevailing wages, even though he may not pay any taxes, and in no way keeps up any expensive equipment; but, when they employ a funeral director, who in all probability is a taxpayer, but in any case has to keep up expensive equipment, they expect him to bury an Old Age Pensioner for $87.00 less than actual statistics show that it costs, and also expects him to spend 50c of that money for Notary fees.

NEW JERSEY: Pays $100.00 where expenses are not over $150.

OHIO: Pays up to $125 and also permits private contribution of $100, making total $225.

MASSACHUSETTS: Pays $100 towards funeral expenses where bill does not exceed $200. $100 may be paid by insurance or friends.

THE READING CIRCLE HAS BENEFIT PARTIES

The Reading Circle had a series of parties for the benefit of the British War Relief on Friday and Saturday in the homes of Mrs. Fred Smith of Hillcrest avenue, Mrs. Laura Parker on Laurel avenue, and Mrs. Richard Rentz, on Fairfield avenue.

Hostesses who assisted Mrs. Smith on Friday were Miss Edith Moore, Mrs. Stella Hought, Mrs. Anna McLure, and Mrs. J. P. Campbell. Mrs. J. M. Henley, president of the group, aided Mrs. Laura Parker with her party, and Mrs. Rentz was assisted in serving by Mrs. Frank Eichholtz and Mrs. Alfred Owens.

N. B. B. Club

Mrs. Rose Budd entertained members of the N. B. B. club in her home at Moravia street extension recently, with Mrs. Betty Fall sharing as special guest.

Cards were in play, with high prizes going to Mrs. Domenick Vitale and Mrs. S. Rizzo, and the club token being captured by Mrs. J. Caligore.

At a late hour the hostess was assisted in serving a delicious lunch by her daughter, Rose.

On March 20 Mrs. A. Mazzacoe will receive the club in her home on Sankey street.

Plan Annual Fish Dinner

Members of the Men's Bible class and the S. B. Copeland Bible class of the Third United Presbyterian church will have their annual fish dinner, Tuesday evening, March 11, at 7:30 o'clock.

Speaker will be Rev. William A. Thornton, pastor of the Epworth church. Toastmaster on this occasion will be A. J. Minick.

Priscilla Club

Mrs. Frank Natale will entertain the Priscilla club, Tuesday evening in her home, 319 East Long avenue, instead of Thursday evening.

MISS JULIA MARKLE TO WED FRED L. TAYLOR

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Julia C. Markle of Highland avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Markle of Penn Valley, Pa., to Fred L. Taylor, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Taylor of Pulaski, was made known to a group of Miss Markle's friends at a party in her parents' home Saturday evening.

The engagement was revealed in an unique manner, tiny match boxes, containing the message, "It's a match—Julia and Fred," being concealed among the candy of the favors. These were made by Mrs. H. R. McCulloch of this city.

Both young people are well known throughout the county. Miss Markle having made a host of friends since coming here three years ago as home economics extension representative for Lawrence county. Mr. Taylor is engaged in the dairy business with his father at Pulaski. Both are graduates of Penn State college.

No date for the wedding has been announced, but the nuptials will be an event of the coming spring.

COLONIAL CLUB HAS ANNIVERSARY PARTY

An enjoyable event was held on Sunday evening, when members of the Colonial club gathered in a tea room on the New Wilmington road for their annual anniversary party, this being their 13th event.

At an appropriate hour a delicious full-course chicken supper was served by candlelight on a nicely appointed table. Husbands of the members were special guests.

Dancing, games and other pastimes were held by the group during the informal social hour which ensued.

Thursday, March 13, Mrs. Ray Miloni, of 1506 Hamilton street, will entertain.

GREEKS REVEAL COURAGE

GREEK resolution in the face of threatened attack by Germany is in line with the tradition of holding the pass at Thermopylae. These intrepid fighters, who successfully resisted invasion by Mussolini's forces and have in turn swept over a considerable part of the Italian base in Albania, embody a spirit worthy of their great past.

Against terrible odds they are keeping faith with their British allies, while the other Balkan states, one after another, have passed, or are passing, into the control of Hitler's axis.

Under Field Marshal Alexander Papagos, who is the leading figure since the death of Premier John Metaxas, the Greeks are preparing to oppose the projected German onslaught with the same bravery and unity they displayed against Italy. At a time when Yugoslavia, surrounded by axis forces, is bending the knee to Hitler, they are offering an example to Turkey, whose turn may be next.

It was a blow to Britain and Greece when Bulgaria permitted German occupation, but the Greek determination in the face of all odds invites the chronicles of a latter-day Homer.

CLOSING CONSULATES

Decision by the State Department to request the closing of Italian consulates in Newark and Detroit and withdrawal of their personnel "for reasons of national policy" came as a surprise. It is entirely justified—if any justification is needed—by the recent request from Italy that American consulates at Naples and Palermo be closed.

Actions in these instances by both Italy and the United States are said to be unprecedented by nations mutually at peace. It is on entirely different footing from the request of Germany that the United States close consulates in countries temporarily conquered by Der Hitler.

In addition to requesting the closing of the consulates, the State Department requested that Italian consular officials restrict their movements to their own special areas, and that the department be notified by the Italian Embassy "of the movements outside of Washington of the military and naval personnel" attached to the embassy. This is in line with Italy's action affecting the American Embassy at Rome.

It is reasonable to suppose that any information of activities for Britain in the Newark and Detroit areas that came into possession of Mussolini would have found its way fairly soon to Hitler. Dollar defense contracts in New Jersey, of which Newark is a vital center, outrun those of any other state. Detroit is the center of the automotive industry and will construct mechanical armament of all sorts.

HITLER'S NEW "GAINS"

Hitler still has the arms, the men and the planes, but he has about run out of material for surprises, which has been one of his most important resources. Britain stands, and she is not alone. She has not been easily surprised, nor have the Greeks. The Turks seem to be of one mind, too, and to have their eyes open.

So, for a quick and easy victory by parade of power, a short thrust or by fifth column activities, there remain for him Yugoslavia and Spain and unoccupied France. If he brings Yugoslavia into line, it will be no surprise; if he moves on Salonika, it will be no surprise; if he opens an air and undersea blitz against Britain, it will be no surprise.

There would be an element of surprise in an attempt to take Gibraltar, or an effort to take the Dardanelles; or the French bases from the Vichy government, but in each of these cases the surprise would probably be for Hitler.

As for Salonika, it is assumed that the Greeks would fall back to the passes at which they stopped the Persians and with the support of the British and with the Turks and possibly the Russians keeping them on the alert elsewhere, the surprise might be for the Nazis.

On the whole, Hitler seems to have weakened his position in diplomacy and in the field by gobbling up too much. He seems to be about to get what he fears most—a war on a second front in which he may have initial successes, but which will increase the probability of ultimate defeat. If, as it appears, he has to save Mussolini in order to save himself, he is headed for disaster.

THE DARDANELLES

Xerxes' army crossed the Hellespont over a bridge of boats, Leander and Lord Byron swam it, it was forced by the British Admiral Sir J. T. Duckworth in 1807, and in the World War one British submarine got through under the mines at the narrows to sink a Turkish battleship off the Golden Horn. But the strait, now known as the Dardanelles, is virtually impregnable.

Churchill learned a tragic lesson there in the World War, and Hitler has no means of forcing the straits against the Turks alone, much less against the Turks supported by the British. But there was another lesson in the World War campaign—that if it had been possible to reinforce land forces quickly enough and if naval action had not provided a warning, the British probably would have succeeded. It is possible that Hitler, who has to rely almost entirely on land forces and aircraft, may yield to a temptation to attempt to score what would amount to a naval victory by using his army.

If Turkey means business it would be a costly and hazardous undertaking for Hitler. There is every indication that he is trying to avoid it. Although the Nazis are making large concentrations in positions from which they could move swiftly toward the Turkish frontier, they are rushing other units directly to the Greek frontier. They are pouring down the Struma and Mesta valleys to take position about sixty miles north of Salonika. In view of the events of the last two years, that is ultimatum enough.

The Greeks say they will fight, the Turkish navy has steamed out and Anthony Eden is in Athens telling the Greeks what support they will get from the British, and possibly from the Turks. A Turkish army marching westward would alter the whole picture.

Sweet potatoes are being tried out as stock feed in the South. The result might be the ham what yam.

British sailors will probably not be greatly annoyed by the ruling that they may not sign off in letters to their sweethearts with "love and xxx." The "x," especially in this usage, has always been an unknown quantity.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

STUDY TIPS FOR SLOW PUPIL

Most parents, even most teachers, are prone merely to urge the student with low grades to study harder. This doesn't help very often. Excepting for about one student out of a thousand, hard mental work is necessary to win success at studies. Yet mere industry does not guarantee success. Many a student who drives himself to drudge over books for long tedious hours barely passes or entirely fails, in spite of his industry.

I doubt very much whether a consistent and persistent plodder can be very dull or that a very dull student can ever grow to be a consistent and persistent plodder.

Please let me address a few remarks to the student with average or superior ability who lacks self-discipline in regard to study. Some of these suggestions will obviously apply also to the plodder who gets poor results from his endeavors. You probably have no regular plan of study, and do not hold yourself to a definite study program.

No Day-Dreaming
Begin early in the evening and, when at all possible, allow nothing to divert your attention from your work. Write out a schedule and follow it literally. Have a regular place to study. Assemble all your needed materials before you begin. While in class at school, be sure you get the exact assignments, making notes if it is necessary.

As you proceed in your studying at home, don't allow yourself to day-dream. Catching yourself at it in the middle of a page, go back to the beginning. It might aid you to concentrate if, as with solid reading matters, you write down a sentence in your own words to summarize each paragraph.

At the beginning of your study call to mind a summary or the high spot learned that day, in the subject at hand, and do likewise before leaving the subject for the night.

You can save an enormous amount of time and effort if you will train yourself to pay strict attention in class to the lecture or discussion. Some students practice this so well they must do little or no work on certain subjects outside of class. Other students sit and dream through the entire class period.

Be Alert In Class
A certain student who worked hard in the evening, told me he often sat through a whole class period without hearing a thing. Another said he found that by keeping alert every minute in class he did not have to study much outside of class to get good grades.

Practically every student in high school or college has some in nearly every subject which need to be committed to memory. He easily can ascertain what these items are. Wishing to succeed, he drives himself to memorize them and drills himself on them from time to time. The successful student has cultivated the habit of preparing all papers and other special assignments on time, carefully giving himself a definite time for each, postponing none and letting no assignments pile up.

With the high school and college youth in mind, I have greatly elaborated on the foregoing and added numerous other suggestions in my "Tips to Students" to be had by writing me at 235 E. 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The World and the

Mud Puddles

STILL PENDING.

The Federal Child Labor Bureau announced, immediately following the Supreme Court's child labor decision, that the movement for the ratification of the child labor amendment would continue. The theory is that only one-fourth of all child labor is employed in interstate commerce and that the amendment is needed to reach the intrastate three-fourths.

Adoption requires ratification by eight additional states. None has ratified since 1937, when the total reached twenty-eight. The amendment has been pending since 1924, more than sixteen years, and it is alive in spite of the popular impression that what the court said in 1921 about ratification within a reasonable time has outlawed it.

On June 5, 1939, the court ruled by seven to two in an opinion written by Chief Justice Hughes that although the child labor amendment had then been pending fifteen years it "had not lost its validity through the lapse of time." The Court refused to instruct Congress as to what might be a "reasonable time." The crux of that decision was that questions relating to the terms under which legislatures might ratify proposed amendments were political matters, and that Congress and not the courts must stipulate what is "reasonable." It is conceivable, of course, that Congress must specify a period in which a case might reach the court and there be held a referendum.

Advocates will have no easy time obtaining eight more ratifications. All the old arguments are as powerful as ever. With its definition of the age of childhood, as terminating only at the age of eighteen, it has been condemned as an amendment for the control of youth and as intruding unduly within the family. Many who are warmly in sympathy with the ideals of the foe of child labor will continue to hold that this reform should be brought about by state and not by Federal action.

Those summer school stories are generally pretty good. Take the case of the teacher who complained about the work of the class.

A man was introduced to a circus sword-swallower. Not having seen a sword-swallower before, he asked him to demonstrate his art, whereupon the fellow apparently swallowed some pins and needles.

"But," protested the man, "those aren't swords; they are just pins and needles."

"I know," replied the circus freak. "I'm on a diet."

Modern politeness consists of a man offering his seat to a woman when he is about to get off the street car.

Wars bring all kinds of improvements. In Japan, seaweed is being converted into wool, we are informed, at a factory which turns out five tons of the product a day. Maybe, after all, the sheep is a descendant of the aligator.

Good Taste

By E. E. Patent Office

"I have been married a few months and my husband's only criticism of me thus far seems to suggest that I lack orderliness about my room. Before I started serious work and while so engaged I hurried away after breakfast, leaving my bedroom to my mother. As a result I have never had to bother about such details and think I should now have a maid to cover them." Bride.

Answer: Beyond personal beauty, nothing contributed so much to a woman's loveliness as orderliness and daintiness. These two virtues are the natural heritage of culture. Indeed, there is no culture without them. A millionaire child made to bathe daily or often thus attains the habit of cleanliness and daintiness. Even after she becomes a pauper, her skin craves soap and water. And no matter how many maids she used to have to put away her clothes and tidy her room, she will still demand order when she has to take care of them herself.

It is a safe gamble that the wife who can endure disorder and a lack of personal daintiness has come from a family where such virtues are not taught. So, by all means, disabuse your husband's mind of such suspicions and exert yourself to keep yourself and your home spick and span until you can well afford the maid whom you now crave. Even after she is acquired, she will slight her work if she finds that you lack these virtues.

Question: I am going to my first dance in a short time. Please tell me the etiquette of asking a girl for a dance.—Bill.

Answer: Way back in grandma's day, a young man approached a young woman, bowed and formally asked, "May I have the pleasure of the next dance?" But today, men are not quite so ceremonious. Go over courteously and say something to this effect: "Hello, or Good Evening, Judy, may I have this dance?" If she says she has it taken, ask her if she will save one for you later, letting her name the number. Needless to say, you must not ask a girl to whom you have not been introduced.

Question: I have received an announcement of a small wedding to which only close friends were invited and announcements sent to acquaintances. Does this require a gift?—Mrs. W. W.

Answer: No. Announcements require no gifts, nor any reply whatsoever.

What's What At A Glance

May Get Last Word On Lease-Lend Bill

Senator Harrison Due To Devise Taxes

Has Been In Background During Battle

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Although Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi has been an outstanding fighter for the upper congressional chamber's adoption of aid-

Britain, an American defensive legislation, he hasn't been the official leader of the campaign for the administration's program.

The discussion has been a mixture of a foreign affairs, military affairs and naval affairs debate, and Senators Walter F. George of Georgia,

Morris Sheppard of Texas and

David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, as chairmen of the Senate's foreign,

military and naval affairs committees, in the order named, have been the appropriate solons to figure as experts along the lines of their respective specialties.

Pat, by the way, could have been foreign affairs chairman if he'd chosen to be. When the committee's last chairman, Senator Kuy-

Pittman of Nevada, died not long ago, Pat was in line to succeed him.

He already was chairman, however,

of the Senate's finance committee.

It isn't customary for the same statesman to head two different and important committees, and Pat preferred to stay on his finance

job. Consequently, Senator George,

next on the seniority list, assumed the post.

But if Pat's been a trifle obscured by his chairmanship's nature, in consideration of aid-Britain and domestically defensive plans,

oh, how he'll loom up when the controversy arises as to methods of footing the bill for these twin undertakings! It'll have to be footed by taxation, and dopping out taxes is the finance committee's particular function. It behooves the taxpayers

then, to develop a heap of interest in Senator Harrison.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton

(North Carolina) of the House of Representatives' ways and means committee will get the first crack at the tax problem, because all revenue measures have to originate in the representative's chamber.

Crack Is His

When the representatives are through with one of 'em, though, it goes up to the Senate, and there

Pat Harrison will get the last crack, which is just as important to the taxpayers as the first one; perhaps even more so, for Pat may nit on some scheme of lightening up the initially-proposed load on 'em a little, or, contrariwise, he'll like to denude Uncle Sam's got to sock em still worse than Bob Doughton deemed necessary. It's due to make

'em ache like fury, at best.

By a coincidence, Pat and Bob were inducted into congress the same day of the same year. They both celebrated their 30th congressional birthdays on March 4.

Bob stayed in the House of Representatives throughout. Pat graduated into the Senate after eight years as a representative.

Harrison started as "baby of the House," at 29. In 1913 he succeeded in persuading President Wilson to visit Mississippi for a few days.

At a party there, Dr. Cary Grayson, the president's physician, jokingly nominated Pat, as the visitors' host, for the Senate. That gave Pat his original hunch, and in 1918 he actually beat Senator James K. Var-daman out of his upper house seat.

He's subject to these sort of hunches. For instance, his real name is Byron Patton Harrison.

But in 1904, making his first political race, for district attorney in south Mississippi, he had the hunch to advise his campaign manager to introduce him as "Pat," at a rally before a predominantly "n-g" group.

The strategy took. He swept the box and has been Pat ever since.

His congressional career isn't the longest on record. Six senators rank him in point of seniority and a couple of representatives have served longer than he has, in the two houses. He's been all over the map, too. Furthermore, he isn't old enough to be a congressional Methuselah yet. He won't be 60 until August.

Pomona Grange Members Meet

Program Presented At Moravia Presbyterian Church
On Saturday

TWENTY-FIVE YEAR MEMBERS HONORED

Lawrence County Pomona Grange met with North Beaver Grange at the Moravia Presbyterian church, Saturday, March 8.

Pomona Master, W. S. Fullerton, conducted the routine business of the day. From the reports of the subordinate granges it was found that there are approximately 1,475 grangers in Lawrence county.

Mrs. J. O. Cameron, chairman of the Pomona Home Economics committee, outlined a program for the year, as follows: To hold at least two home economics programs in each subordinate grange; to help celebrate the Diamond Jubilee; to make a contribution toward the scholarship fund; to stress temperance; to improve grange kitchens; to provide more sanitary rest rooms; to plead for peace; to help provide clean recreational and educational work for grange young people.

There will be held at State College, April 9, 10 and 11 a "short course" for grange lecturers. Pomona grange voted to help financially in sending the twelve lecturers from Lawrence county to this conference.

On March 19, at Jackson grange hall at Harmony, Pa., the state grange officers will conduct a regional conference. Officers of all Lawrence county granges are urged to attend.

S. S. Brest, Master of North Beaver grange, welcomed the members present while Howard Aiken, master of Pleasant Hill grange, ably responded.

The afternoon program opened with a demonstration of 4-H club work. L. C. Dayton, assistant Lawrence county agricultural extension agent conducted the demonstration. Two of his boys, Lee Ramsey and Robert Moose, showed the proper method of cleaning and sterilizing a milking machine and other milking equipment.

Worthy Master Fullerton, obligated six new members in the degree of Pomona.

David Kyle, of North Beaver grange, talked on grange history, particularly history which lead up to and including the adoption of the grange declaration of purposes. Pomona lecturer, Mrs. E. C. Williams, conducted a short ceremony in honor of those grangers who have, within the past year received a Silver Star Certificate, signifying twenty-five consecutive years of membership in the grange. There were twenty-nine such people but only ten of those were present and each spoke briefly of their life in the grange. They were, Mrs. C. A. Kerr, Mrs. Elda McMillen, Mrs. James B. Beatty, Mr. F. M. Davis and Herbert Leslie of Big Beaver grange, Mrs. Ida Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. David Kyle of North Beaver grange, Mrs. Laura Baird of Mahoning Valley grange, and F. F. Forbes of Liberty grange.

H. R. McCulloch, Lawrence county agricultural agent, announced the Tri-State Sheep and Wool Growers meeting in New Castle, March 14 and 15.

John Kyle of North Beaver grange pleased the audience with a vocal solo.

Dr. Willis Kerns, extension sociologist of Pennsylvania State College, brought the day's program to a close with an address "The Balance Sheet." Dr. Kerns listed the assets and liabilities of life in the country. On the liability side he cited: attitudes of farm people themselves, dependence of farm people on weather and nature entirely, the national policies which seem to benefit the farmer but in reality operate to his detriment, as tariff, taxes etc., the lack of bargaining power, disadvantages by way of utilities service, medical and institutional services, law economic advantages, lack of leisure time and lack of leadership. Balancing those liabilities are these assets: farm families are "family centered," advantage high as a place to rear children, farm folk are more healthful, an excellent place to develop a balanced philosophy of life, more neighborhoodness in the country, more variety of jobs in the farmer's life, more freedom of action, greater security, farmer's products are essential, supplant the total population, farmer accumulates more wealth in real estate and the farmer aids in the development of living things, he is forever close to nature.

The next Pomona meeting will be June 4 at Pleasant Hill.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS

The Gold Star Mothers' association was organized in Washington, D. C. June 4, 1928, and incorporated January 5, 1929, in the same city.

Off to Britain

W. Averell Harriman

W. Averell Harriman, President Roosevelt's personal representative to Great Britain, arrives at the White House for last-minute instructions. The President said Harriman would represent him "in regard to all matters relating to the facilitation of material aid to the British Empire."

Calisthenics Class In South New Castle

South New Castle Boro's recreation center is doing its share in the national defense program.

In addition to usual activities, the center has organized a calisthenics class. Some 40 to 50 boys, ranging in ages between 14 and 22, are members.

Daily the boys go through various exercises, spending at least a half hour drilling, according to Eddie Sovesky, supervisor.

Any individual or organization desiring to donate calisthenics equipment are asked to call 3624-J.

B'nai B'rith Names Dr. Shoaff Speaker

Dr. Paris A. Shoaff, Lawrence county medical director, will discuss "Problems of Public Health" at the March luncheon of New Castle B'nai B'rith members in Leslie hotel Wednesday, March 12. Reservations are in charge of Dr. Henry Sloan, Dr. Harry I. Botwin and Jack Leiby.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT TALENT CLUB

Talent club members held their regular meeting on Friday evening in the W. P. A. Community Center with Henry Bogdan in charge, and at which time officers were elected: President, Henry Bogdan; vice-president, Josephine DeMase; sergeant-at-arms, William Church; financial secretary, Jane Sanders; corresponding secretary, Sam Donopri; board of trustees, Pete Riggins, Russell Hall and Louis DeGeorge.

DR. F. M. EDWARDS' DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION

Benefits Nation of Sufferers!

COLUMBUS, OHIO: For over 20 years Dr. F. M. Edwards (widely known physician) successfully treated scores of patients for constipation and the headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness which often result.

This wise Doctor knew liver bile must flow freely every day into your intestines or fatty foods can't be properly digested and you may become constipated. So he kept this in mind when he perfected his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful, yet they assure gentle, thorough bowel movements and ALSO help stimulate bile flow. Test their goodness TONIGHT! 15c, 30c, 60c.

The Great Game Of Politics

the extremes to which they have permitted feelings to carry them. And, while there probably will be some irreconcilables, there is every reason to believe that, once the bill is law, the country will be overwhelmingly behind the President in the effort to make it operate effectively in extending full aid to the British. It is true that, as originally drawn, the bill gave vastly too much power to the President; that the amendments have made it a better bill, and that the fight could have been shortened and the weapons of the opposition blunted had Mr. Roosevelt not asked too much to start with.

NEVERTHELESS, the opposition cannot charge that he used the weight of his office to force the bill through in the way he did with the Supreme Court packing bill and the reorganization bill. Then he not only put personal pressure on senators and made threats, which he later tried to carry out, but members of his cabinet were upon the floor of the Senate actively lobbying. There has been none of that in this fight. The President has held aloof, left things in the hands of the Senate leaders, kept White House representatives away from the Capitol. It is not his fault that the Senate leadership has been exceedingly inept; that Senator Barkley has been at his bungling worst.

NOW, as to action immediately following passage of the bill, the expectation has been that Mr. Roosevelt would address the country in a special fireside chat, in which he would reassure those who have been alarmed by charges that the bill is a war bill and that he seeks to "drag us into the war." It seems that, now the fight is over, a Presidential speech, again clearly stating our position and purposes, would be particularly timely and helpful. And there is a better-than-even chance that such an address will be made.

THE one thing that may prevent this is the state of the President's health. There is nothing serious the matter with him, but he is said to be suffering from slight sinus trouble and he plans to take a short cruise in southern waters as soon as he can after he has signed the bill. But, whether he does or not, there will be an immediate increase in activity and the British will benefit not only by the material supplies, but by the psychological effect of an act which officially proclaims us their ally.

IN informed circles here there is a feeling that the question of conveying materials to Britain with our own naval vessels has not yet been finally decided. Despite the defeat of the prohibitory amendment, the present administration attitude is that there is no more purpose to convey than there is to send troops abroad or to declare war. But it is obvious that developments may force a change in this business of conveying. If it becomes clear that the British themselves are unable to provide safe convoys for the materials we are sending, it is difficult to see how we can avoid taking on the job. Because it seems incredibly stupid for us to devote all our energies and vast sums of money to manufacturing goods to save the English, on the theory that that is the way to save ourselves, and then, without a preventive gesture, permit Hitler to send them to the bottom of the ocean.

THAT would seem complete frustration of our whole foreign policy. It would put the nation in the position of furiously working at top speed for nothing. It would stamp us as both futile and absurd. For these reasons, it is argued, if events show England unable herself to insure delivery, the sentiment of our people on the question of American convoy would change very much. Under the bill as it now is, the President can act in his capacity as commander in chief without restraint.

In any case, there are thoughtful men here who think it likely we may be conveying by sea. That, many contend, will bring us a step closer to actual war. Perhaps they are right; perhaps not. But what else is there to do? Can we aid the British half-heartedly or halfway? Can we sit still and allow this whole gigantic and terrifically costly effort to be nullified because we shrink from taking a logical step to make it effective? That hardly makes sense.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 10.—While the United States senate recently engaged in almost endless debate over the lease-lend bill, the Pennsylvania senate reportedly is preparing to clamp down on lengthy discussions. Republican leaders say that henceforth prolonged talk on "unessential matters" will be taboo. Just what is "unessential" will be determined by the Republican party, which is in control.

No serious attempt was made to curb debate in the preceding senate session, perhaps because the Republicans, although holding an actual majority, lacked one vote of a constitutional majority needed to enact legislation. Sen. G. Mason Owlett, of Tioga, then majority leader, made a half-hearted attempt on one occasion to limit debate but failed. The senate itself decided to adjourn on that occasion after Minority Leader

It is estimated that to date the stations have donated approximately $3,600 in free time for this service.

Present indications are that Governor James will sign the Moulton-Woodring bill repealing municipal milk ordinances regulating the production of milk if the Democratic-sponsored measure reaches his desk. The bill passed the house and is now in senate committee. If enacted the measure would replace the local regulations with a uniform state system of milk control production. Governor James said he had received some letters of protest on the measure. "I have no opinion on the bill, he added. "I haven't read it."

Another farm problem of major importance in Pennsylvania, that of state milk control, has brought his various comments from interested citizens, the governor disclosed. Certain groups, said the governor, were asking for the abolition of the milk control commission and return of milk regulation to the state health department. Other groups wanted the milk control commission retained, but with reduced powers. Part of the Democratic farm program for this session calls for the abolition of the milk control commission but not of all milk control by the state.

MISS VERA L. SAGE WEDS PHILLIP REED

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Sage, of State street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Vera Louise Sage, to Phillip William Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip G. Reed of Mahoningtown.

The wedding ceremony was performed in the Methodist church in Mercer, December 26, 1940, with Rev. John L. Buck officiating.

Mrs. Reed is a graduate of the local high school, Slippery Rock State Teachers College, and is a teacher in the New Bedford Consolidated school. The groom graduated from the local high school, The Mechanical Trade School at Youngstown, and is employed as master mechanic in a local garage. Mr. and Mrs. Reed are now at home to their friends at 320 Garfield avenue.

Alice Rentz Circle
Associates of the Alice Rentz Circle of the Epworth church held their meeting on a recent evening in the home of Thea Newhard, of Mulberry street.

The event was in the form of a surprise. Kitchen shower held in honor of Patricia Loy, a bride-elect who will marry Frank Clark.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Newhard.

Many lovely gifts were received by Miss Loy.

N. O. Club
Mrs. Anna Murray entertained members of the N. O. club in the home of Stella Rozan on North street Saturday evening with Pita Logue sharing as a special guest.

Cards were in play and high score prizes went to Mrs. Sarah Logue and Mrs. W. E. Dean.

Tasty refreshments were served by the hostess, and plans were made for the next meeting on March 13 in the home of Mrs. Mae McFarland on Front street.

Legion Auxiliary
Members of the American Legion auxiliary of the Perry S. Gaston post, Unit No. 342, will meet Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock to make surgical dressings in the Red Cross chapter house, Beaver street.

Class Meeting
Members of the Etta Gillfillan Bible class of the First U. P. church will meet in the Sheridan avenue home of Mrs. Jessie Edgar, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Mrs. W. M. Smith as co-hostess.

AMERITA CLUB HAS ANNIVERSARY EVENT

Saturday evening, associates of the Amerita club gathered in a downtown tea room where they enjoyed their annual anniversary dinner, the event being their 11th occasion.

Early in the evening a full course chicken and ravioli dinner was served to the club members and the honored guests, their husbands.

An informal social hour ensued, including games and cards, high score prizes going to Nick George, Joseph Panella and Mrs. Andrew Panella.

On Thursday, Mrs. Anthony Villani of East Long avenue will entertain.

W. W. T. Club
Mrs. J. A. McFall, Sr., of Laurel boulevard will be hostess Friday evening to members of the W. W. T. club instead of Mrs. Agnes Lorenz of Park avenue as previously announced.

Brown Guild to Meet
Members of the Brown Guild of the Third U. P. church will meet Tuesday evening in the church, and the dinner event planned for this date has been postponed.

N. C. T. Club
Mrs. Crawford Andrews of Highland avenue will be hostess Wednesday evening to members of the N. C. T. club in her home for their regular session.

Young Basalica Club
Members of the Young Basalica club gathered in the home of Mrs. Josephine Russo, of Division street Sunday evening for their meeting.

Rose Laifa captured the door trophy, and card prizes were awarded to Frances Roman and Maxine Padula. Plans were made for a trip to be held to Pittsburgh in the near future.

A St. Patrick's Day lunch was served by the hostess later.

The next meeting will be held on March 23, in the home of Mrs. Lucy Mitolo, of Neal street.

Club Postponed
The meeting of the Friendship club, scheduled for Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Anthony Perro, Butler avenue, has been postponed until further notice.

Court Street Unit
Members of the Court street unit of Epworth church will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. C. H. Andrews on Court street.

Happy Hour Club
Mrs. Arthur Snyder of 801 Butler avenue, will entertain the Happy Hour club members in her home Friday evening.

Friendly Circle Club
Mrs. Nicholas Altobelli of DuSanne street will receive the Friendly Circle club Tuesday evening.

Bullitt Called To Give Testimony In French Collapse

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 10—Seeking first hand information about the labor situation in France, prior to that country's collapse, the House Judiciary Committee summoned William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France, for testimony today.

The committee has under consideration several proposed bills seeking to regulate strikes and other labor difficulties in this country during the defense drive.

Bullitt, who was in Paris at the outbreak of the war, was called at the invitation of Rep. Hobbs (D) Ala.

Committeemen indicated they will question the former ambassador closely about conditions in France.

Democrats Will Consider Probe
Of Brown's Case

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 10.—Democratic legislators will caucus today to determine whether to launch a legislative investigation of the resignation of Richard P. Brown as secretary of commerce, resulting from a dispute with Gov. Arthur H. James over the placing of state advertising.

Preceding the caucus, the House rules committee will consider the investigatory resolution introduced last week by Democratic Representative H. J. Maxwell, Westmoreland, and John R. Bentley, Allegheny, and present their recommendations to the House caucus. A similar resolution was sponsored in the Senate by John H. Dent (D), Westmoreland.

Bird House Entry
Deadline Is Today

Today brings the deadline for entries in the New Castle Bird House building contest which the Phalanx fraternity of the Y. M. C. A. is sponsoring.

All applications must be in tonight. All finished houses must be taken to the "Y" Saturday, March 22, and judging comes March 24.

When not in use, hair brushes should stand with the bristles down so as not to collect dust.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

PLASTIC SURGERY CAN MAKE MANY DEFORMED TOTS HAPPY

Children with physical defects should have them corrected by parents as early an age as possible before the discovery they are different from other children fills them with a feeling of inferiority from which they may never recover.

I have known children for example, who never completely recovered from the feeling of shame over looking differently and talking differently from playmates.

The mental reaction to deformity may begin in a child quite a while before its parents think it will. Even at the age of two, a child with hare-lip will when it comes in contact with a stranger, hide his head to conceal his deformity. A youngster with club-foot realizes when it sees other children walking and running without difficulty or braces, that it is afflicted and hasn't the same chances of having fun in games as others.

Fortunately, however, this attitude of shame at being different usually doesn't become serious until the child enters school. The thoughtlessness and sometimes the cruelty of children then will make it plain to him that he is deformed, that he looks "funny" to others in the school. The parent of such a child, particularly if he is sensitive, is likely to find his sense of shame increasing as he grows older until by the time he reaches adolescence he not only has a pessimistic, despairing outlook on life, but he has developed some peculiar traits of personality that are apparent in his reactions toward his playmates.

When a deformity of any type is present in a child, it should have the soonest possible and most complete surgical restoration. It is particularly important that the deformity be corrected before the child enters school, for this is the age of greatest mental and social reaction to the deformity. There are very few conditions where at least partial restoration cannot be made during the first five years of a child's life. Plastic surgeons are doing wonders with club-feet, for example.

Of course, all conditions that make a child unattractive looking are not congenital. A youngster of eight or nine brought in to see me not long ago had a bad scar on one cheek. Apparently at the time this injury was suffered a physician did not do the dressing, and cinder particles and dirt had been allowed to remain in the wound. The result was that it looked almost like a tattoo mark. Fortunately, this carelessness can be corrected.

A physician who attends to such a wound can prevent such marks occurring. Even the simplest brush burns should be carefully scrubbed with soap and water and of course imbedded cinders or particles of dirt ought to be removed one by one.

British Fleet May Be Allowed In Black Sea

(International News Service)
BUDAPEST, March 10—Balkan diplomatic quarters expressed intense interest today in an article published by the Moscow newspaper Red Star, organ of the Soviet Army, predicting Turkey will allow the British fleet into the Black Sea through the Dardanelles in the event of the German-Greek war.

The same paper also said that Russia's attitude toward Bulgaria, hitherto friendly, from now on will be one of "preparedness."

(Russia recently protested to Bulgaria against German military occupation of that country. British authorities regarded the Soviet protest as merely "academics.")

Army Engineer Now
Has 1,500 Working

A total of 1,498 persons were at work in the Pittsburgh Army Engineer district during the week ending March 5. The district embraces all flood prevention projects and like work, and Lawrence and many other Western Pennsylvania counties. Headquarters are in Pittsburgh.

The 1,498-1,269 government employees and 229 contractor-hired—serve under Lt. Col. L. D. Worsham, district engineer. They function in four divisions, inspection, operation and maintenance, engineering and administration.

ARMY

In the various communities that the Salvation Army is located, there are many different types of work that they can do and, as is often the case, there are other organizations doing work that is also included in the Army plan of operation.

To be of the greatest usefulness to a community, the Army has organized the Salvation Army advisory board. The functions of this board are as the name suggests, that of advising the local officer-in-charge how he might best help in the district.

Members of this board are elected for a period of three years and at the end of that time they may be re-elected. The elections are so held that one-third of the board is either renewed or changed each year. All members are eligible for re-election.

To realize the value of this board, Capt. Carl Andersen reviews some of the duties of the various committees:

An executive committee, to deal with all matters that may arise requiring immediate attention.

A budget and finance committee to arrange the annual corps budget, as well as prepare emergency budgets as occasion demands.

A publicity committee, that arranges with churches, clubs, schools or any other groups to have speakers tell of the work of the army in the local community, or in the warring countries.

Welfare and social service committee. This committee deals with problems concerning family welfare, transient service, homes and hospitals, day nurseries, prison work, etc. This group also helps to maintain proper relations with other service groups.

A youth committee to deal with the young people in the community and also in the formation of Boy Scout troops, Boys' clubs, girls' work or clubs, juvenile delinquency and the finding of suitable care for the child to insure a proper education.

There are other committees dealing with the work of the community as a whole and in each and every one the object is, that through service, the army might make the city a better place in which to live.

Pastor Called To Serve Another Year

Rev. J. Albert Tinker has been given a call to continue as pastor of the Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist church for the coming year. Rev. Tinker has accomplished good work during his pastorate here, is well liked by his congregation and has a host of friends in the city.

During the week-end, Miss Sadie Lewis also was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the moving of Harry Ashton and family to Greenville. Her two assistants elected are Mrs. George Kyte and Miss Lois Blair. (Miss Sadie Lewis was chosen as delegate from the church to the Primitive Methodist conference, which will be held at Nanticoke, in session from April 30 to May 5.)

Italian Press Sees U. S. Participation In War

Interpretation Given Aid Bill

Mussolini's Spokesman Charges U. S. Entering War Against Axis

NEW AGGRESSION LAID TO ROOSEVELT

(International News Service)
ROME, March 10.—Passage of the lend-lease bill by the American Senate "amounts to the beginning of American participation in the war," Virginio Gayda, press spokesman for Premier Mussolini, charged today.

"Passage of the bill represents open intervention in the war against the axis," Gayda wrote. "It amounts to the beginning of American participation in the war."

"This deliberate, unprovoked approach of America to war is a violation of the Hague convention."

"Abandon Neutrality!" President Roosevelt voluntarily and publicly has caused the United States to abandon neutrality and renew (the late president) Wilson's bellicism.

"No artifice of words or of cases can alter facts or the responsibilities deriving from them."

"No one can change the aspect of a new aggression that President Roosevelt is preparing to give the United States."

"Roosevelt also is preparing another colossal, frightful economic, financial and social crisis and collapse."

Before Gayda's article appeared, virtually all Italian papers sought to minimize the practical importance of the lend-lease bill.

They also bitterly attacked the United States, charging that the "Kellogg-Briand peace pact has been replaced by the Roosevelt-Churchill war pact."

Publication Of Post-Gazette Is Hit By Strike

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 10.—The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette "was forced to suspend publication until further notice Sunday evening when a number of vital production departments failed to report for work and cover their situations in accordance with union contracts," a formal company statement said today.

"Pickets were posted about the newspaper building shortly after noon by members of the Pittsburgh Newspaper Alliance, a union of outside circulation men, which had failed to report for work Thursday afternoon. Members of three unions reported for work despite the picket lines but others refused although in one case local officers gave positive orders that they should do so and in another the international union had sent word that the contract obligated the men to report for duty," the statement continued.

"When two editions had been missed and it was clear that the departments concerned could not function, the management decided it had no option but to suspend operations until further notice."

"The Newspaper Alliance, which precipitated the controversy, had a contract with the Post-Gazette which did not expire until May 1951. The statement said the controversy developed unexpectedly when the outside circulation men complained that a 'promotion man' working on the aid Britain day edition was doing work claimed by the alliance although a member of the union was supervising the work."

Manhattan Has Bus Route Strike

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 10.—A strike paralyzing virtually all bus transportation in Manhattan and affecting almost a million commuters, was called today by the C. I. O.-affiliated Transport Workers Union.

Rejecting a last-minute offer of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia to mediate the wage dispute, union leaders ordered the suspension of operations on 27 bus routes, thereby tying up 85 per cent of surface transportation in central New York City.

The strike—authorized by the union's 3,500 bus drivers because the companies reportedly refused to negotiate their demands for a 25 per cent wage increase—marks New York City's first major transportation tieup since the 1926 subway strike.

Says France Will Protect Shipping

(International News Service)
VICHY, March 10.—France will throw protective screens of warships around her merchant vessels if "the British continue seizing them," Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan declared today.

At a press conference called by Marshal Henri Philippe Petain and designed to stress the rapidly growing needs of France for food, Admiral Darlan explained his challenge to Britain and this simple statement: "The people of France need to eat."

Tunnel Connects Two Westminster Dormitories

NEW WILMINGTON, March 10.—Westminster college co-eds aren't worrying about a "blitzkrieg" from the air, because a tunnel, a block long has been constructed from Browne Hall, freshmen women's dormitory, to the new Ferguson Hall dormitory, across the quadrangle.

The tunnel, costing $5,000, was built, however to enable free access between the dormitories, rather than as a defense from air-bombing.

Browne Hall co-eds use the Ferguson dining hall; and the tunnel enables easy traveling between units without going out into the cold and rain.

Browne Hall co-eds are shown here entering the tunnel on the west-end, enroute to the Ferguson dining hall. Collegians are not allowed in the tunnel.

Employers Praise Coeds As Workers

(Special To The News)
PITTSBURGH, March 10.—Do college girls make good employees? A questionnaire sent out by the Dean of Women's office at the University of Pittsburgh gives the answer as overwhelmingly "yes."

Employers of Pitt National Youth Administration girls rate them high on honesty, level-headedness, loyalty, and initiative. They even like their looks, with 85.8 per cent classed as "excellent" in appearance.

The questionnaire invited frank appraisal of N. Y. A. girls. These are students paid by the government for their services as stenographers and part-time secretaries in offices; or as group leaders for sports, games, arts, and crafts and other activities in recreation centers.

The University of Pittsburgh itself is an N. Y. A. employer as is the Pittsburgh Board of Education. In no case is a girl given a position where ordinarily a worker would be paid at the employer's expense.

A high percentage of the Pitt girl workers rate "excellent" in 10 qualities that include promptness, cheerfulness, health, voice, and adaptability as well as the qualities named above.

There are 232 women students and 101 employers on Pitt's N. Y. A. roll. Of these, 90 employers sent back ratings on 129 girls. But not all employers returned answers for each of the characteristics.

Of those evaluated for appearance, no student was called "unsatisfactory." Seventeen were listed as "satisfactory," and 103 were classified as "excellent." Similarly, employers gave top ratings for cheerful disposition to 107 girls, while 15 were found "satisfactory" and not a single "sour puss" was named.

A letter was sent with each questionnaire by Mrs. Frances Holland, assistant dean of women. In the letter she explained the purpose of the survey.

"Correction of attitudes, better performance," are among the uses to which the study will be put. It will serve, she explained, as a basis for discussion in group meetings. It will also be used in "follow-up interviews with individual girls who need to discuss their attitudes toward and performance on their N. Y. A. jobs."

Would-be Sneak Thief Aids Girl To Put Out Fire

A would-be sneak thief on Saturday morning aided in extinguishing a fire in a north hill home which might have destroyed the building.

The daughter of the family was in the basement fixing the furnace when a lighted paper fell to the floor and ignited a box of rubbish. At the same time a prowler attempted to enter the house through the side door which was open. As he started up the stairs he noticed smoke pouring from the cellar. He had the choice of fleeing or investigating the matter. Luckily he chose the latter. A few moments later he had successfully extinguished the fire and led the young lady to safety.

He later explained that he was out of work and hungry. He had entered the house in search of food or money. Needless to say, the family furnished his dinner.

New Strike Occurs At Detroit, Mich.

(International News Service)
DETROIT, March 10.—The Midland Steel Products Co. shut down today when 1700 members of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) walked out on strike.

Work on bodies for automobiles concerns filling truck contracts for the army stopped. The Midland plant was the scene of the first Michigan sitdown strike in 1936.

Edward M. Owen, state labor conciliator, said a deadlock in negotiations developed over the question of wages.

Meantime, the strike of 350 UAW members at the Federal Motor Truck company continued, holding up about $5,000,000 in defense orders. Wage scale and a union shop clause were reported the chief points in dispute.

Strike Develops In Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—While a U. S. labor conciliator strove to effect a settlement, 1500 employees of the J. G. Brill company—which holds $418,661 in national defense contracts—walked out today in a strike ordered by the CIO's steel workers organizing committee.

A company spokesman announced the workers filed out and formed picket lines around the huge plant in southwest Philadelphia. He said no announcement about possible negotiations would be forthcoming immediately.

HOW YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN

REPAID IN 12 INSTALLMENTS

AT A COST OF 5¢ A DAY

You can get $100 to pay old debts or other expenses if you can repay $9.75 a month for 12 months—No endorsers or guarantors needed—A simple, private way to borrow.

HAVE unusual expenses caught you short of ready cash? Do you need money to pay old bills? If you have a steady job, you can readily borrow $20 to $300—and repay in small monthly installments.

Suppose that you need $100. Find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment you wish to make. 12 monthly installments of $9.75 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. The cost, in this case, averages less than 5¢ a day.

You may prefer smaller payments. Only $6.97 a month for 18 months will also repay a $100 loan. The amount you borrow and the time you take to repay it determines the cost. You can borrow $25 for two months, for instance, for only 94¢.

First Church Still Leading

Continue To Make Good Record In Pre-Easter Campaign In City

REPORTS ARE MADE FOR SECOND SUNDAY

The First Presbyterian Sunday school is still traveling along and now have, despite yesterday's inclement weather, 146 points. They have planned their work, are working their plan and, consequently, are getting results.

The Second U. P. added points yesterday as did the First Christian, the Mahoning Methodist and the Mahoningtown Presbyterian. The Third U. P. is leading the First, New Castle, group and are making ambitious plans for the next few Sundays.

Percentage of those attending Sunday school, who remained for church for New Castle Sunday schools: The Second U. P. still leads, with the Highland U. P. second and the Reformed Presbyterian third. The Croton Methodist is fourth and the Central Christian fifth.

Percentage standings for First three Sundays of campaign:

First U. P.	81%
Highland U. P.	78%
Reformed Presbyterian	73%
Croton Methodist	67%
Central Christian	65%
Mahoning Methodist	64%
St. John's Lutheran	58%
First Presbyterian	57%
First U. P.	55%
Third U. P.	55%
First Methodist	54%
First Christian	53%
First Baptist	53%
St. John's Lutheran	49%

Everything considered, all of the Sunday schools did remarkably well yesterday, and when the favorable weather comes the attendance will also spurt upwards.

The following are the standings for the four New Castle groups:

First group—Third U. P. 67 points, First Baptist 47 points, Highland U. P. 11 points, First Methodist 1 point, Epworth Methodist 0 points.

Second group—First Presbyterian 146 points, First Christian 40 points, Second U. P. 9 points, Central Presbyterian 0 points, First U. P. 0 points, Croton Methodist 0 points.

Third group—Wesley Methodist 9 points, Mahoning Methodist 4 points, Maitland Primitive Methodist 3 points, Central Christian 0 points, St. Paul's Lutheran 0 points.

Fourth group—Mahoningtown Presbyterian 30 points, Madison Avenue Christian 17 points, St. John's Lutheran 12 points, Reformed Presbyterian 3 points.

RICHARD BELKNAP RECEIVES POSITION

Richard Belknap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard G. Belknap, of 9 East Wallace avenue, has completed a course at the National Cash Register school, in Dayton, O., and has been transferred to Indianapolis, Ind., where he will assume his new duties on Wednesday.

Mr. Belknap was formerly an employee of the National Cash Register company of New Castle. He is spending a few days here with his parents.

HAS HEEL BROKEN IN AUTO COLLISION

Charles A. Blackman, of R. F. D. No. 2, Utica, Pa., was brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital, Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, suffering from a fracture of the right heel, sustained when a car driven by Dr. C. P. Turner, of Meadville, is said to have skidded on the slippery pavement, and crashed into a truck owned and driven by Blackman, just south of Portersville, on Route 19.

The hearing will take place in the Gold room of the Roosevelt Hotel in Pittsburgh Thursday, March 13, at 9 a. m., in response to a request by the United Farmers of America of the Western Pennsylvania district.

Preparing For Greatest Pheasant Raising Year At Jordan Game Farm

Jordan State Game Farm, near Harlansburg, the grounds and buildings of which now are undergoing extensive improvement, will liberate "more than 10,000 game birds" by April 1, it was learned today.

The 1941 season at the farm, it is indicated, will top the high marks of 1940.
Work Projects Administration workers are now widening all farm lanes to a 16½-foot width, and making general improvements. All of the 15 farm buildings have received fresh coats of white paint. One new covered field, 180x300 feet, is being completely enclosed with new wire. Two acres of ground surrounding the headquarters building are being treated for cultivation. And a total of 7,000 feet of new open-field steel fence, part around fields used heretofore and part around new fields, is being constructed. The fences are eight feet high.

Record Of 1940 Season
Reporting for the 1940 season, farm officials said 76,442 eggs were gathered at the farm—10,770 of which were shipped to sportsmen's organizations throughout the state. Eggs set during that season in the 15,000-egg capacity incubator totaled 48,284. Chicks hatched numbered 34,817. Chicks placed in the 50 brooder houses numbered 24,097.

Some sportsmen's clubs maintain their own brooders, and to those brooders the farm shipped 10,720 eggs.

Farm officials said 9,750 six-week-old birds were sent to sportsmen's groups which maintain their own pens and hold half of the number for release in the winter and half in the summer. A total of 12,746 have been placed in the wire-covered fields at Jordan farm for the current liberation. They are from 10 to 11 months old.

About 2,300 female bird and 460 males will be held at the farm for the 1941 laying season.

Selecting Jury In Murder Case

Mrs. Leila May Dixon Goes On Trial For Death Of Her Husband

SEVEN JURORS ARE ACCEPTED BY NOON

Mrs. Leila May Dixon, charged with the murder of her husband, Walter Dixon, on the night of October 25, 1940, went to trial today in court room number one before Judge W. Walter Braham. At noon seven jurors had been selected out of 28 called.

The jurors accepted at noon follow: Leora Armstrong, housekeeper, Washington township; Bruce McElwain, laborer, Slippery Rock township; Mary Scheidemantele, housekeeper, fourth ward; Thomas S. Badger, laborer, Wayne township; Robert Black, laborer, Union township; Nana McCarty, housekeeper, third ward; Ina Cooper, clerk, Wayne township.

No Death Penalty

From the examination of jurors by Assistant District Attorney L. K. Donaldson it seems apparent that the Commonwealth does not plan to ask for the death penalty. No juror was asked if he or she had any scruples against capital punishment.

Mrs. Dixon was brought into court shortly after nine o'clock, and at 9:10 she was placed upon trial. Asked how she pleaded, she said, "not guilty," and the selection of the jury started.

On the night of October 25, 1940, about midnight, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon were in Home street, near a colored club. An argument is said to have ensued and Mrs. Dixon is alleged to have whipped out a knife and cut her husband's throat. He died shortly after.

She was not tried in the December term of court, due to the fact that a baby was born to her about the time the term started. The baby, along with four other children of Mrs. Dixon's, is in court, with a relative sitting in the main body of the court room.

Until enough jurors were excused from the murder case panel, it was impossible to start court before Judge Charles Matthews, Jr., in court room number two. The first case to go up is that against Louis Charles, charged with aggravated assault and battery upon Curley Allen, also known as Abraham Alley.

AROUND CITY HALL

Almost all of the signs in the city are illegal according to Attorney Frank Morrell, assistant to City Solicitor Robert M. White. He uttered the foregoing assertion during council meeting in city hall today. The assistant solicitor advocated a charge of either 50 cents or $1.00 for a sign permit, a portion of which could be devoted for indemnification against accident in case a sign should fall and injure a pedestrian. Council decided that the sign question would be considered soon and a regulatory measure adopted, which would contain "teeth."

Council today authorized the payment of $30.00 to Al Bauman, the same having been recommended by City Solicitor Robert M. White. The latter asserted Bauman had appraised the Book property assessment and also testified in court when the assessment was before the court.

Several bills were ordered by council to be paid. Among them were $297 for a dictaphone in the office of Solicitor Robert M. White; ice, $12.00; D. R. McKee, inspection of motor equipment, $13.50; Paul Shoup, $6.00 for nickel wrappers; Citizens National bank and $2.50, clock service, W. U. Telegraph company.

City Engineer Glenn R. Throop today informed council in session in the city building that the Allegheny & Western railroad should be assessed for 60 feet of paving as the result of the improvement of Cherry street.

Council adopted an ordinance which provides for the changing and fixing of a grade in Pennsylvania avenue between Lyndal street and the city line. The state intends to pave the avenue.

Council authorized City Engineer Glenn R. Throop today to make arrangements for a storm sewer to run from Wall and Wolfe Streets, where water pools, to the Taylor Street storm sewer, prior to the paving of Florence Avenue, Wolfe and Wall streets.

Council intends to convene informally within the next few days and decide on a driveway policy; that is, the plan to be followed when the city is required to change grades to meet intersecting and sidewalk grades. Complaint in the past has been made that when such situations have arisen some driveways have been left in such a way that cars could not ascend them without damage. In connection with the assessment, City Engineer Glenn R. Throop declared that in many instances of this kind sidewalks had not been laid to grade.

EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED SUNDAY

Mrs. William J. Sweeney, of 509 Pearson street, celebrated her eightieth birthday anniversary, on Sunday, at her home. Her birthday falls on March 12.

Six children, ten grandchildren, and two great grandchildren attended. One daughter, Mrs. J. J.

Arenth, of Tampa, Florida, was unable to be present.

A large birthday cake, with eighty candles atop, graced the table. Decorations were in pink and green.

The honored guest received a number of nice gifts.

Mrs. Sweeney has been a resident of this city for over fifty years. She enjoys good health.

Ashes Fail To Check Skidding

More than a dozen loads of ashes were placed on the different paved hills here Saturday night in an effort to facilitate motoring it was stated by street department attaches today. However, snow fell so fast the ashes were buried and cars and trucks skidded and stalled on some of the hills, especially North Jefferson street.

Virginia passed the first Blue Laws in the United States in 1619.

Humbert Society Meeting Is Held

At the Sunday afternoon meeting held by the King Humbert Society in the newly remodeled club rooms, Division street, President Raymond Peluso expressed his appreciation to all who had aided.

The announcement was made that all members of the club who are drafted for service in the U. S. Army, would receive all benefits of the club, and their dues, during their time of service in the army.

Speakers at the meeting in behalf of the welfare of the club were Raymond Peluso, Ralph Morelli and Frank Gillett.

Sunday evening, an informal time was held for members and friends. Music was provided by a local orchestra.

On April 13, the next meeting will be held.

CITY-COUNTY FLOOR TOURNEY OPENS TONIGHT

Teams Anxiously Awaiting Fourth Annual Tourney

New Castle Music Council Will Get Benefits, Fannins Ex-High Stars In Feature Game

BEARS MT. JACKSON WILL PLAY FIRST

New Castle's annual basketball classic is about to start at the George Washington High gym, in fact tonight at 7 o'clock just a few hours after you read this article, the Washington Bears and Mt. Jackson will take the floor for the first game of the Fourth Annual City-County tournament. It will be a Class B division battle.

All of the tourney details have been worked out, it was reported by General Chairman Anthony Conn today. Nothing has been left undone to make the 1941 tourney the biggest of its kind to date. The New Castle Music Council will derive the entire benefits of the tourney.

Fannins vs Ex-High Stars
The Washash Bears led by Ernie Ademo and Ralph Tencio of the New Castle high team will oppose the Mt. Jackson team led by the Razaro brothers. This should be a handiwork of a bad game all the way. The Bears are given a slight edge to cop it. But, the Mounties coached by Harry Lockley will be plenty tough to beat. The Bears will be handled by Albert Russo and Willie Domenick.

The feature game in Class A will find the Fannins after a little rest and at the same time trying to survive the first-round when they battle the Junior-Ex-High Stars the team that took their measure at the Arena lately. The lineups of both teams are dotted with former New Castle High stars for instance the Fannins will feature: Toscano and Nafas former wearers of the red and blue. Also Dave Green, Joe Cooper and Bus Davis. The Ex-Highs will have Red Ross, Big John Zubkowsky, Lindy Lauro, Parou, Sammy Ciazza and Eddie Cowden, and will be tough to defeat.

At Popular Prices
The fans have been anxiously awaiting this second Fannin and Ex-High meeting and in the draw the two teams were picked to oppose each other by a coincent.

The third game tonight a Class B battle will show the little "Bears" and colored team playing the New Castle Shamrocks a team made up of ex-Shenango high stars it is understood. This will no doubt prove a classy engagement all the way. Both are newly organized teams and will have new faces on the rosters.

Added Attractions
It was announced today that His Honor, Mayor Charles Mayne will be on hand to make the opening talk at the city-county tourney tonight over the public address system and to toss out the first ball.

Professor Joseph Replogle of the New Castle High band and orchestra will have a part of his fine band at the game to help enliven the occasion.

Pulaskis Halt St. Michaels

The 22 game winning streak of the New Castle St. Michaels church team, champions in the Slovak League at Youngstown, came to an abrupt end on Sunday afternoon at the K. P. Hall 36 to 36 at the hands of the K. P. Big Five in a torrid engagement.

The Saints led at the half 25 to 16. The Pulaskis led by Ryzcaj, Hnat and Pilch staged a beautiful second-half rally that nosed the Saints by a lone point. Johnny "Feller" Carrk and Joe Danish led the Mikes in scoring.

In the preliminary game the K. Pulaski reserves lost to the Bessemer Indies 36 to 24, with Johnson the Indies big star and Krupa best for the losers.

Westminster Hopeful Of Bid To Play In New York Tourney

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, March 10.—Sweeping the Carnegie Tech cagers out of the way without ever losing their lead, the Madison-Square-bound Westminster Titans brought their 1941 season to a thrilling finish here Saturday night by administering a 60-40 trouncing to Coach Hannum's unfortunate Tartans, who completed their season without winning a game.

Westminster outscored the Tech cagers in every quarter, centering its attack in the third session when they outscored the Tartans 19 to 9 points.

Fox Scores 20 Points
Lee Fox, Westminster forward from New York, took high point honors for the evening with 20 points, followed by Dunmire and Miller of the Titans with 12 each.

The Titans took an early 7-0 lead in the opening minutes of play, and except for a 10-10 tie in the first frame, were never in danger of losing their lead.

Charles Ridl, Titan forward, out for the last three weeks with a sprained ankle, returned to the game and played the entire second half.

Westminster's began finding the basket early as the game opened. Fox scored twice in front of the basket, and Miller took a side shot and free toss. Westminster rang up seven points before the Techmen found the basket. Tech came from behind to tie the score at 10-10 as Burch, Fishere, and Patton came through on fast-breaking plays and sleeper-shots.

Tech Rush Halted
Westminster checked the Tech rush, however, and added five points before the end of the first quarter. Miller's free toss, a set-shot by Fox, and a dribble-under by Dunmire. The Titans lead 15-10 at the quarter's end.

A Tech rally led by Burch brought the Tartans score up in the second frame, but Westminster brought out its best passing, cutting, and screening in several weeks to run up a 34-19 lead at halftime. Fox, Westminster cager, rang up 16 points before the halftime gun sounded.

Westminster was making good on almost all of its shots from the foul-line, while Tech was shooting wild both from the floor and from the free-throw marker.

In the second half, the Titans outscored Tech 26-21, with honors almost even in the final frame, 15 for Westminster and 13 for the Hannum cagers.

Smith, Hennessy, and Burch led the Tech scoring in the third quarter, with Fox making six points out of Westminster's 11. A shower of personals slowed up the game throughout the third period.

Reserves Injected
In the final frame, with four minutes to go and the Titans leading 56-39, the Westminster reserves took over the game, and the scoring ended except for Wally Patton's free toss. Midway in the last quarter, Westminster scored ten points in two minutes of play on baskets by Spak, Fox, Dunmire and Miller.

The Tech victory gave the Titans their 20th victory in 21 starts, and a perfect season except for their 38-37 loss to the Indiana Indians.

In the dressing room, at the end of the game, Henry Holets, Tech guard, was elected captain of the 1941-42 Carnegie Tech team.

Klingensmith To Replace Delarado In Ellwood Tuesday Night

Marion Klingensmith of Vestaburg who defeated Johnny Como of Meadville here one week ago tonight will replace Ted Delarado of East Liverpool against Regis O'Brien of McKeesport Tuesday night in the A. A. U. boxing show in the Shelby Social club, Ellwood City.

According to reports one of Lee Ruffner's blows delivered here last Monday so affected Delarado he has been under the care of a physician since then.

Other bouts follows:
Nicky Wargo vs Arbie Bowie; Billy Reale vs Paul Jackson; Roy Crews vs Al Sayres; Russ Baxter vs Nate Harge; Scotty Anderson vs Andy Roh! Mokey Cortex vs Ken Williams and Hal Householder vs Billy Bittner.

Reale, Baxter, Cortex and Householder are from Lawrence county and the remaining 12 bouts of the 16 who will appear in the eight bouts are from the Pittsburgh and Chester, W. Va., district.

While football time is months away it isn't a secret that a host of coaches have stepped back stage to see what kind of actors are on hand for the next grid production. From College Station, Texas, we learn that friend Dick DeArment, the Bessemer star athlete, is among the four standout guards in the Texas A. & M. camp. Rumor winds reaching here have a pleasant odor regarding the likeable Dick.

Baseball—Mace Brown has seen a lot of action as a Pirate pitcher in the past half dozen seasons. Mace has totalled 261 games, completing only 18. George Susce knows what it is to travel from one club to another. The new coach of

PETE REISER IS DODGER KEY MAN

Manager Leo Durocher considers Pete Reiser, outfield ace, as the key to the Brooklyn Dodgers' pennant hopes.

Reiser has what it takes in the way of speed and a strong arm. Not a giant in stature, Reiser packs a lot of wallop at the platter.

"RED" EVANS IS RELEASED

Minneapolis—Russell "Red" Evans who won 10 and lost 11 in 1940, has been released by Minneapolis.

Evans has been sent to Chattanooga of the Southern Association and is subject to recall.

MILTONS DEFEATS "RENS"

The Milton A. C. basketball team, class B entrants in the city-county tourney Saturday morning defeated the "Rens" of this city, a new local colored team at Senior High school 13 to 9. At the half the "Rens" led 13 to 8. Scoring stars in the game were—Humphreys, for the winners, and Walls for the losers. The Patton coached machine has won 25 and lost 10 this year, for a very eviable record.

RAMBLERS WIN TWO

The New Castle Ramblers, entrants in the Class B division of the city-county basketball tourney, won two games over the week-end as follows: Ramblers 18, Auto Mechanics 10, Ramblers 73, Thomas All-Stars 20. On Wednesday the Ramblers and Genevans tangle in the tourney at Washington High floor.

HOUSE LOOP AT

There has been a change made in House league games at the "Y" this week, and there will be games on Monday and Wednesday, instead of Friday. The week's card tonight at 7 o'clock, Tifereth Israel vs. Jews; Wednesday at 7 o'clock, Jewels vs. Globetrotters.

Magee Funeral On Tuesday Afternoon

Services For Perry Township Youth To Be Held At Mountville Church

ELLWOOD CITY, March 10—Delbert C. Magee, aged 25 years, passed away on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at his home in Perry township, near Portersville, after a lingering illness of several months' duration.

He was a well-liked and esteemed youth of this district and his death brings much sorrow to a wide circle of relatives and friends. A faithful member of the Mountville U. P. church, he was also an active worker in the Young People's Christian Union.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Magee, and the following brothers and sisters, Harold G. of Portersville, Mrs. Dorothy Backley of Slippery Rock, Mrs. Gladys West of Portersville, Miss Bernice Magee, Thomas and Mary Smith, all at home, survive. He is also survived by five nieces and nephews, Ruth Roy, Edith and Gerald Magee and Judith Kay West.

Funeral services will be held from the Mountville church on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with the pastor, Rev. J. C. Fulton, to officiate. Interment will be made in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Lightfritz Is Given Surprise

ELLWOOD CITY, March 10—Mrs. L. A. Lightfritz was completely taken by surprise on Saturday evening when members of the Lilyville Church of God assembled at her home, in Wurttemberg Heights, to mark the occasion of her birthday anniversary, which was an event of early March.

The sixty guests participating spent the evening in an informal manner with a refreshing lunch being served by Mrs. Ferd Kaufman, Mrs. Jacob Dauten, Mrs. Herman Person and Mrs. Elmer Best.

Mrs. Lightfritz was presented with many attractive gifts as remembrances of the happy occasion.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

ELLWOOD CITY, March 10—Mr. and Mrs. George McKim, of Park avenue, announce the birth of a son this morning at the Jameson hospital, New Castle. Neal George is the name that has been chosen.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Downing, of Ellport, announce the birth of a daughter on Sunday at their home. The baby has been named Karen Sue.

Collapse Of
France SeenBy GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR.,
International News Service Staff
CorrespondentWASHINGTON, March 10.—Former Ambassador to France William
C. Bullitt today warned congress that there is a "striking parallel" between conditions in the United States and those in France before her collapse."We are producing, but not enough," he told the house judiciary committee. "We are making a 24-foot rope for a 30-foot job."The fall of France, Bullitt declared, "was a case of a country not waking up to the fact that wars are won before they start by preparations."The diplomat urged America to be guided by the lesson of France."The real tragedy was that France did not really feel herself in danger until the German actually cracked through the Maginot line," he said."Then France turned too, in a month after part of her country was occupied she produced two and one half times as many planes as she had ever produced before. But it was then too late."Bullitt testified before the house judiciary committee which is considering several proposed bills seeking to regulate strikes and other labor difficulties in the United States during the defense drive.Bullitt said he felt "the United States today is in greater danger than any time in her history."
"And the people just don't realize it," he emphasized.

Farley May Seek Job As New York Mayor

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 10.—James A. Farley, ex-member of the Roosevelt cabinet, was being "talked up" today by politicians as the Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City in the fall of 1941.

How Farley feels about this will not be known until he arrives in New York Monday from a two-months' trip to South America.

When Farley left New York on January 9, he was more interested in business than politics, his friends say. His chief concern was his new job as chairman of the board of the export company of a nationally-known soft drink corporation.

Farley then felt he had given twelve years to national politics (chiefly in President Roosevelt's behalf) and now had obligations to himself and his family. As postmaster general for eight years he had run into debt, and business seemed to be the way out. So he resigned as Roosevelt's campaign manager and as a cabinet member after years of 100 per cent service. He wanted to make some money.

"Political Natural"

But, regardless of the fact that Farley now is a businessman, his friends regard him as a "political natural." They want him to run for the four-year term as mayor next fall. They can't believe he is giving up politics, and they don't know whether he'd rather run for mayor of New York City or governor of New York State.

Other possible Democratic candidates for mayor are:

1. District Attorney William O'Dwyer of Brooklyn, who made a sensational record in prosecuting the "Murder, Inc." gangster mob.
2. Attorney General John J. Bennett of Brooklyn.
3. Lieut. Gov. Charles Poletti.
4. District Attorney Samuel Foley of the Bronx.
5. Secretary of State Michael Walsh of Brooklyn.

The Democratic big-wigs insist that Farley, because of his tremendous personal appeal, acquaintance-ship and prestige, could beat Republican possibilities. The mayoralty candidacy, politicians say, are:

1. Mayor F. H. LaGuardia.
2. Wendell L. Wilkie.

Film Director To Answer Call Of Draft Board

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, March 10.—Carlson Kanin, noted film director, today was ordered to report for induction into the army tomorrow for a year of military training.

Although it was reported that Kanin's studio may ask that he be deferred long enough to complete a forthcoming picture, the director said that he had no personal desire for deferment.

"My duty and responsibility are very clear," the 28-year-old director declared. "I am delighted to go."

Kanin directed such pictures as "A Man to Remember," "The Great Man Votes," "Bachelor Mother" and "My Favorite Wife."

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)
Copyright 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A tiger, hunting along the fringes of a forest in India, snatches a child from a native village. Somehow the great brute drops its prey and the little man-child crawls into a wolf-den. And there it is adopted by Mother Wolf and made one of her cubs, and grows up as a wolf, understanding the language of the birds and the beasts, wise in all the ways of the jungle—a slayer of tigers, a driver of the great wild-bull, a friend of the huge python, a forest creature with the wisdom of the old gods—man, yet of the creatures of the wild.

That is the story of Mowgli, found in Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Books" which the late George Russell said would be one of the few remembered pieces of English literature surviving five centuries from now.

This is pertinent to the news because biologists and anthropologists, hearing of another such instance of a human baby being reared by wild beasts and growing up as one, have denied that it is possible. But straight to the support of Mr. Kipling and Mowgli and Muller, Inspector-General of the Forests of India, who had encountered in the jungle many wolf-reared children, came a distinguished military authority, Colonel James L. Sleeman, familiar with India, who wrote this letter to the London Times.

"My grandfather, Major-General Sir William Sleeman, the discoverer and suppressor of Thuggee, was one of the first Europeans to bring such an instance to light, the first of three which came before his notice and which were investigated by him. In all, I think, some seventeen well-authenticated cases have been known; but I fancy that the examination of these would disclose that the children concerned were taken away by wolves after or toward the end of their weaning period.

"For example, one of Sir William's cases concerned a boy of three years of age, taken by a wolf at Chupra in 1843. This boy had just recovered from a severe scald on his left knee, while his distraught mother had the horror of seeing him being conveyed away with his loins in the wolf's mouth. This was in March of 1843. In February, 1849, almost six years later, he was found running with a wolf pack some ten miles distant from where he had been taken, being identified by his mother by the marks of the scald and those of teeth on his loins; in addition there was a third mark, too, with which her son had been born.

That he had formerly known something of speech was proved by the fact that this unfortunate child used to mutter something, but could never be got to articulate any word distinctly. In 1850, he escaped into the jungle and his subsequent fate is unknown."

Major-General Sleeman's story, authenticated by him, is so amazingly parallel to Kipling's story of Mowgli that it seems almost certain Kipling must have borrowed his fiction from the facts of the child stolen by the wolf of Chupra. Man has been walking upright only a few hundred thousand years. Perhaps we are closer to our four-footed brothers than we realize.

Local Marine Aids In Rescue

Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Paluszak of North Jefferson street received a telephone message from their son, Private First Class J. A. Paluszak Jr., at Norfolk, Va. The latter is in the U. S. marines service, aboard the 17,000-ton U. S. navy aircraft carrier Wasp.

P. E. C. Paluszak reports that he assisted in the rescue of the crew of eight of the schooner "George E. Kline", which foundered in a raging Atlantic storm, off Cape Hatteras, Friday night. The schooner was bound from Maine, carrying lumber to Jacksonville, Fla.

The Wasp will soon proceed to Cuban waters.

It may be caused by any one of a large number of factors.

Some diarrheas are caused by parasites in the system.

Amebic dysentery and pinworm diarrheas are parasitic disorders.

Bacteria or germs cause diarrheas, as in typhoid fever.

Food which has spoiled is a frequent cause of diarrhea.

Excessive use of laxatives offers a common type of diarrhea.

Too much food and drink often bring on this disorder.

The digestive tract tries to rid itself of offending foodstuffs.

There are, also, the psychogenic diarrheas.

These are caused by fright or accompanying fear states.

EVANGELIST AT MAITLAND CHURCH

Rev. Albert Peterson, formerly of the Rev. Billy Sunday party, opened his evangelistic campaign Sunday morning, at the Primitive Methodist church, South Mill street, with a large congregation present at 11 o'clock.

Rev. Peterson also conducted the Young People's meeting at 6:30, and delivered an inspiring sermon in the evening, from the subject, "The hour is come."

This evening, Rev. Peterson will preach on the subject, "Pressing toward the mark." There will be special singing, by Misses Margaretta and Dorothea Lewis, and Wilda Montgomery.

There seems a very good likelihood of the pending transfer of sale of properties delinquent in taxes may be postponed at least until August 31. A resolution has been passed by the General Assembly which contains a declaration of intent to pass such legislation. Otherwise the sale would be held May 1.

In the office of Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar, Glenn W. Wallace has filed an action against E. H. Scarazzo asking for damages in the amount of $94.48. It is charged that on December 25, 1940, the plaintiff's car was being driven by Francis Gardner. At 10 a. m. on Laurel avenue the cars of the two litigants collided, the Wallace car being damaged to the amount claimed, it is alleged.

State College Alumni Will Meet March 17

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, March 10.—Alumni of the Pennsylvania State college residing in Youngstown and surrounding districts will assemble for a dinner program at the Youngstown club Monday, March 17, at 6:30 p. m.

Two prominent men of the Penn State faculty will make addresses on this occasion. Edward Steidle, dean of the School of Mineral Industries, will speak on "Service of the College." Prof. Harry B. Northrup, director of the mineral industries extension division, will talk on "Mineral Industries Extension and the Engineering Defense Program."

Both Dean Steidle and Professor Northrup are prominently identified with the college's task of training 10,000 men for technical work in the national defense program. For this purpose the Pennsylvania State college has received a federal grant of nearly a million dollars, or approximately one-tenth of the entire federal fund allocated to colleges and universities for this purpose.
